MOODY WOMAN HAS FEW REAL FRIENDS

She Is Disappointing and Undesirable as a Companion.

By FRANCES SHAFER.

Moody, did you say? Don't let yourself drift that way, for they make everybody want to run away to a more wholesome atmosphere and sweeter companionship. And that is the worst of all.

Of course, there is always a background, and, of course, one always feels that the something is a very big grievance. And maybe it is, but it doesn't pay to let the mind trail away to the realm where moods are born, because that is the same land that harbors very disagreeable, uncompanionable folk. What matter that they sometimes rise to the heights of loveliness, are sweet and altogether delightful, if the next stray wind carries them back and they become unresponsive, disappointing and undesirable as companions?

And who asks about the background, who cares that there may be a good reason why but the one who sits in darkness and thinks? Who else greatly cares for anything but to be comfortable, to breathe free air and be exempt from the exactions and the unpleasant twists of an unseemly mood?

Question Each Must Answer.

In all our relations in life, it is a question for individual decision:

Shall we look our grievances full in the face, overcome them if we can, endure them if we must—and be sweet? Or shall they gain the mastery, conquer the likable, lovable self, substitute moods for tranquillity and drive away friends?

Because, whatever the excuse, whether grounded in right or wrong, a man or woman controlled by moods will soon see friends slip away to easier companionship.

If there is a trouble eating away at the heart of any human relationship, and two people who are thrown together in close companionship cannot associate without constant friction, the "looker" can only wonder why they do not choose separate paths; else why they do not weigh their troubles and determine whether the balance of hickering and of strife is worth while against the comparative happiness that comes with a determination to make the best of a bad situation.

The theory of peace at any price is not an inspiring sentiment and is not a hopeful rule of life, but if one cannot make life run as she would have it and cannot make folk do what she thinks is right, what is gained by sulking, by sharp, disagreeable looks, sharper, more disagreeable words?

If one could look, speak, and then move on to a different world of people, it might be well; but if one is going to live out her life, or a goodly part of it with another, there is no room for moods. The end is inevitable—unhappiness.

Watch Way It Works.

As we go through life we cannot help watching the way it works.

A long, long while ago a young husband and wife embarked on their voyage together. Early on the way knowledge came to her that if they lived together in peace it would be because she bent to his stubborn, unyielding will. She might fight a new fight each day, and when the day was over there would be nothing gained but a little more bitterness and a little wider breach.

She was in the right, while he needed to be made over. But she couldn't remake him and wasn't ready to pack her trunks, wasn't quite convinced that, after all, her best happiness lay in divided paths.

Many years have passed; he has been domineering, her friends have seen it and she has known it. It is not a pretty spectacle, and yet—to his blundering, self-willed way, he looks at her and sees the sun rise and set right there, and they are as happy as men and women go in this curious old world.

Right on Her Side.

If she had wanted to take up the conflict, the right was on her side—but one must wonder what would have been the result if she had persistently voiced that right, and had grown more and more assertive as he grew determined. If one takes her word for it, it would have been one long warfare of separation. The peace in this home is all of the making and some women would have developed moods to meet his, else would have run away, and both have been unhappy. Who can say that there was not the better part, with all its unattractiveness?

Whatever the ground or the excuse for moods, what advantage is there in the transition from peace and companionship to disagreeable, repellent ways that only react and never cure a single ill in life?

Simmered Chicken Will Be Tender

Fowl Should Be Rubbed with Lemon Before Cooking.

Our most scientific cooks say that the way to boil an egg is not to boil it. Paradoxically, we may say the same thing about chicken, for the way to boil a chicken is not to boil it but to simmer it.

In nine cases out of ten in cooking, the lesser fire does the better work, and this is especially true in the boiling of all meats. They must be boiled very, very slowly, which is the same thing as saying they must be simmered.

Any ancient bird can be simmered until the meat will part from the bones, but any young chicken can be boiled as tough as the proverbial old hen—the meat clinging to the bones and seeming to be all bone and tendon.

The best way to start the prepared chicken is to pour boiling water over it, let it boil up for a few brief minutes, five is usually about all it will stand—then lessen the fire. Skim and keep covered while cooking.

Don't Salt Water to Start With.

Do not salt the water to start with, as our old fashioned recipes told us to. Put the salt in when the chicken is half done. A good cook with the knack can do almost anything in this way, and spoil neither the broth nor the fowl, but there are others who must follow rules to the letter.

To insure greater tenderness, some cooks rub their boiling chicken with a lemon before putting it on to cook. Others put a tablespoon or two of vinegar into the water. Neither of these things do any harm, and either may lessen any rank quality present. But they are not absolutely necessary to the securing of a tender bird.

Notice that it is the pot for boiling rather than the stewpan. There is just as much difference in the boiling of things in thick iron pots, which holds the heat and distributes even heat, as between the thin bottomed frying pan and a thick bottomed. For very quick cooking the thin bottomed frying pan is the best, but for the slow cooking of a meaty bird, the heavy pot is the best, because it will turn so quickly in it.

Many Uses for Cold Chicken.

We have a greater number of uses for cold chicken in summer than in winter, and by the way, it is generally better to let our chicken cool in the liquor in which it was cooked and stay in it until we are ready to use it, because a meat will turn so quickly in it.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

WORTH REMEMBERING.

Tar may be removed from the hands by rubbing with the outside of fresh orange or lemon peel and drying immediately. The volatile oils dissolve tar so that it can be rubbed off.

To clean knife handles or any bone article, it is a good plan to use salt and lemon-juice. First rub the article well with the lemon juice and then with the salt. This will remove stains and grease spots.

Never trouble to shave down the end of a too thick candle, for there is a better and quicker plan. First rub the article well with the lemon juice and then with the salt. This will remove stains and grease spots.

A few drops of lemon juice in the water in which the face is washed removes all greasiness and leaves the skin fresh and satiny, as well as making it fairer and clearer. A little lemon juice rubbed over the cheeks before retiring and allowed to dry will remove summer freckles and whiten the skin, and if persisted in will eventually carry off all blemishes of the complexion that are not caused by impure blood or other internal trouble.

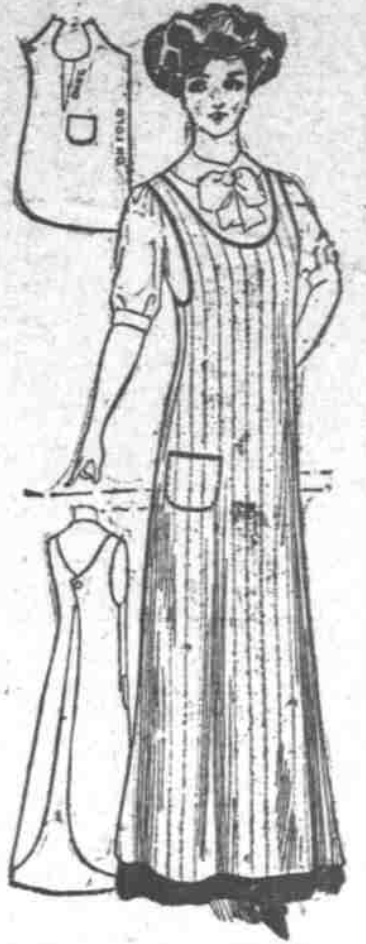

Baby Accessories.

Infant washstand sets recently imported from Germany and arranged upon small sized stands of white enamel iron similar to those used in hospitals and in the homes of the rich. The painted pottery features decorated with Dutch babies in various attitudes. The six pieces in these sets include a novel wash basin of Chinese shape and very unusual depth and this is divided into two equal sized compartments, one for the cold and the other for the tepid water. Attached by a nickel chain to one end of the stand is a small thermometer with which to test the heat of the warm water.

Microscopes for Collectors.

Rich women who are ever on the watch for antique bits of silver or pewter have taken to carrying small silver-mounted microscopes, so that the hallmarks can be examined with ease and the accuracy of the date determined. Dealers in antiques are very apt to talk glibly of George II silver or of George III, and even of William and Mary, pieces, or those of good Queen Anne, and the prattle is bound to make an impression with those who do not know, and can also fool the near-sighted customer. Hence the microscope, a little folded paper (not mentioned to the dealer), whereby the memory is refreshed,

One-Piece Kitchen Apron.

The busy woman will no doubt appreciate this apron design, as it is one of the simplest ever offered, besides being neat looking and practical. The apron is cut in one piece and fastens by a single button. It can be made of ging-ham, percale, linen, or seersucker, and may be trimmed around the neck and armholes with cotton braid or bands of contrasting material.

The pattern, No. 638, is cut in size 2, 3, 4, and 5. It requires 1/2 yard of 27-inch goods, or 3 yards of 36-inch material.

The above pattern can be obtained by sending 10 cents to the Pattern Department of The Washington Herald.

BLUE AND WHITE CHINA IS ALL THE VOGUE.

Along with the vogue of blue and white draperies and garden furniture has come the fashion for using blue and white china. For breakfast, the chateaus of country homes are using plates, cups, saucers, toast racks, porridge bowls, salts and peppers of German porcelain decorated in Delft designs and one easily carried outfit for serving breakfast in the bedroom consists of a round tray supporting a toast rack and flanked by depressions for milk, salt, and pepper. Afternoon tea sets of blue and white Japanese china, are in dragon pattern. These sets, which may as well be used for breakfast as for luncheon, consist of plates in one size, cups and saucers, a sugar bowl, cream pitcher, teapot, chocolate bowl for nuts or fruit, and accompanying dishes, a pair of cake plates and a square-shaped, goodly sized clock to warn loitering guests of Time's flight.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Aluminum slipper trees are recommended for the traveler, as they are light to pack; they cost 75 cents a pair. They are supposed to let the air in the slipper for more freely than the wooden ones, which is an undeniable advantage.

Now that neck ruffs are in demand the woman who is deft with her needle makes one for herself. The ruffing comes by the yard, and one may buy it in any desired color, then take ribbon, or ribbon velvet, and finish either end with a streamer or a few loops. Ready to wear these ruffs cost about $4.

Little Shetland wool shawls are much better for seashore use than scarfs of chiffon or mousseline de soie, as they do not crinkle in the dampness; their price is not prohibitive, averaging less than $2; they have a recommendation in always being becoming to any woman, and especially to young girls.

Delicious Raisin Pie.

Put 1 coffee cup of milk into the double boiler, cream together the yolks of 3 eggs, 1 large tablespoonful flour, 3-4 cup of sugar, 1-2 teaspoonful salt, add to boiling milk, and when partly thickened add 1 tablespoonful butter and 1 cup, chopped raisins. When thickened take from stove and add 1 teaspoon vanilla, pour into pie shell which has already been baked. Beat whites of eggs to a stiff froth with 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar, spread on pie and brown in oven.

Fig Tapioca.

Two-thirds cupful of pearl tapioca, 3 cupfuls of cold water, 1-1/2 cupfuls of light brown sugar, 3-4 cupful of diced figs, 2-3 cupful of chopped English walnuts, 1 tablespoonful of vanilla. Soak the tapioca over night in the water. In the morning add the sugar, figs, and nuts, steam 1 hour in a double boiler. Stir in the vanilla and turn in dish, chill, and serve with plain or whipped cream.

Trunk Linings.

Little bags of lavender in the compartments of trunks that must stand for any length of time, sweeten wonderfully the air that is so apt to grow musty. If trunk linings are slightly scented in this way crinkles and underwears are more daintily fragrant at the end of the journey than when one folds a sachet among the garments themselves.

Clam Broth—For four persons select 12 large clams. Wash shells and place them in a saucepan with one-half pint of boiling water. Cover closely and in 12 minutes the clams will have opened and their liquor dripped into the pan. Remove shells and pour the broth into a vessel, being careful to pour in some of the sediment. Add little white pepper, and if the broth is too salt add little more water. When required, bring broth to boiling point and upon the center of each plate lay a heaping tablespoonful of whipped cream, which has been flavored with salt and pepper. The cream adds much richness to the flavor of the soup and greatly increases its nourishing properties.

Pressed Chicken—Single, clean, and disjoint a good-sized fowl; put in a Kettle, cover with boiling water, and simmer slowly until the flesh drops from the bones. When half done add a high seasoning of salt, white pepper and celery salt and one small onion stuck with two cloves. When sufficiently tender, carefully remove skin, bone, and fat, and shred the meat in good-sized pieces. Hard boil 2 or 3 eggs and cut them in thin slices. Remove the shells from the pot and pour the water into 1 cupful and moisten the meat with this. Thicken with a mold with soft butter and make a pattern round the sides with the egg whites and yolks. Now carefully fill with the chicken mixed with the remainder of the eggs, packing it down well. Cover with a plate, set a weight on it, and put aside in a cold place for at least 12 hours.

THE REFRIGERATOR SHOULD RECEIVE DAILY ATTENTION

A refrigerator should receive attention every day, as mischief is always at work there. Twice a week in hot weather and once in cold the inside should be well scrubbed with hot water, the shelves having been removed. In the water scrub or bones should be discovered. Pieces of charcoal laid in the corners of the ice box help to keep the place clean and sweet, as charcoal absorbs odors and it can be easily replaced. Do not put warm food in an ice box, as it not only helps to make the ice melt more quickly, but food often spoils by undergoing some chemical change. Neither should food be placed directly upon the ice. It is a mistake to think that meat, for instance, is safer directly next to ice. The air above and below is sufficiently cold to keep it. Cold air sinks, therefore all sufficiently chilled meats should be placed under the ice as cold as those above it.

Strong smelling things, like onions, cheese, and some fruits, like bananas and pineapple, should never be put in the refrigerator unless they are in great quantities. Almost any food, at least that milk and butter. Milk, when kept in the refrigerator, should always be kept in a tightly closed bottle, as all foods milk is the easiest to spoil. Meat comes next, and after that butter.

Orange Blossom Fans.

Fans have not had their usual vogue this winter, but now, with the summer season, fashion will be forced to set them a-flutter again, and very exquisite are the new ones. Almost any of the pompadour shape, the width being from top to bottom, instead of from side to side; and all, even to the less expensive gaudy ones, will have the ivory sticks. The new ones are very odd and pretty in the dark shell is like a bowknot, the gold-spangled one has an edge of gold lace, the silver-spangled is plain.

There is a fan of gauze, with ivory sticks and elaborate designs, showing the latest effects in angles, openwork, scroll, and floral patterns. The fan is made of fine mesh, showing neat stripes, dots, and figures. Every good, washable color represented. Every size from 14 to 18. Sale price—50c.

A Good Fruit Salad.

This is a fruit salad made of avocado or alligator pear mixed with whatever other fruit you wish—orange, grape, huckleberry, peach, peaches. Peel and cut the avocado into dice, and then toss lightly with whatever other fruit you have, using two silver forks for the purpose. All the ingredients should be thoroughly chilled and serving time arranged on a bed of white, crisp lettuce leaves, then over all pour a light mayonnaise made as follows: Beat up two yolks of eggs with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, add 1/2 cup of two-tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, stirring all the time; then gradually add two tablespoonfuls of sherry wine. Beat thoroughly with an egg beater. Serve very cold.

To Perfume Lingerie.

The small articles that are washed at home may be most daintily perfumed if a small piece of orris root is added to the water they are boiled in. It may seem an undertaking to boil these, but the points to be thoroughly chilled and the small pieces of orris root in the water and use it for rinsing the blouses, handkerchiefs, etc. When they will be most daintily perfumed with a faint odor of violets.

Lace and Chiffon.

With the revival of shot taffetas, embroidered muslins, chine sash ribbons, and other quaint, Old World fabrics, it was only natural to expect that lace should return to favor, since, to take only one example out of many, nothing makes a more suitable and becoming finish to one of the newly resuscitated styles than a lace collar. A demurely draped schu, made either entirely in real lace or in soft muslin bordered with a real lace frill.

HEBREW TO FORM NEW ORGANIZATION

Mass Meeting Is to Be Held in Pythian Temple to Form Plans.

A mass meeting which Jewish residents of the District will hold in Pythian Temple at 8 o'clock Sunday night will bring into definite shape comprehensive plans for the establishment of a central educational and social institution, which have been in formative state for several months. It was stated last night by Joseph L. Tepper, a member of the Hebrew Institute Association.

The meeting was called by the officers of the association, President Simon Gordon, Vice President H. Crick, Secretary Milton Leinsohn, and Treasurer Charles Rapoport. It is probable that Mr. Tepper will preside and that the principal addresses will be delivered by Rabbi Abram Simon, and Rabbi George Silverstone. Music will intersperse the speeches.

"The purpose of the institute," Mr. Tepper said last night, "is to form a center of educational and social influences. We expect to construct a building which will afford ample space for lecture class, a library, a gymnasium, a library, a gymnasium, and an assembly hall for social gatherings.

"The institute will especially be useful to persons who have just immigrated to this country. We shall endeavor to help them as well as ourselves.

"We expect to raise a fund of $10,000 or $15,000 in the beginning, and with that as a nucleus collect $40,000 or $60,000 for our building and its furnishing.

Dr. Simon Goes to Charlottesville.

Rabbi Abram Simon, of Eighth Street Temple, will leave to-morrow for Charlottesville, Va., where he will deliver a series of lectures before the University of Virginia Summer School. Dr. Simon's theme will be "The History of Jewish Education." Besides the series of academic lectures, he will deliver several popular lectures, the first of which will be given to-morrow night.

Milk Dealers to Raise Money to Fight Cases.

For the purpose of discussing plans for the raising of a fund to pay the expense of appealing certain cases of prosecution of milk dealers to the higher courts, a meeting of the local dealers was held yesterday at the office of C. G. Dade & Co., 601 East Capitol Street.

The milkmen are protesting against the recent prosecutions for selling milk with an "excessive amount of bacteria" which were pushed by the Health Department. The dealers say that because of the vague phrase, "excessive amount of bacteria," they are at the mercy of the Health Department officials.
